

DOWN WITH A THUD

The Wind Blows Over a Building in Chicago

KILLING AND INJURING MANY

A Terrible Cyclone Strikes the Town Completely Ruining a Large New Building—The Dead and Injured.

CHICAGO, April 1.—A terrific wind and thunder storm passed over the city at 4 o'clock tonight, wrecking buildings, demolishing outhouses and prostrating telegraph wires. A seven-story brick building at Nos. 14 and 16 Pearce street, West Side, was struck by the wind and crushed like an egg-shell. The building was surrounded by one and two-story frame and brick buildings, the homes of laboring men, which were also wrecked, killing and injuring the occupants. The killed are: David Hulett, 6 months old; Horace Mott, 5 years; Eddie Mott, 2 years. Fatally injured: Alice Hulett, 3 years, crushed about the legs, body and head. Mrs. Ada Keown, residing at the residence of Thomas Hulett, was buried beneath a mass of bricks. Mary Wigan, crushed terribly about the body; Horace Wigan, infant, crushed about the head; James Mott, crushed about the head; Mrs. James Mott, badly bruised, mangled; James Mott, 12 years, back hurt, otherwise injured; Mamie Mott, 10 years, had wounds on head; James McKeown, wife and son William, 10 years old, are supposed to be buried in the ruins. The building was a brick front, on Pearce street, and was 118 feet long by 50 feet wide. It had just been erected and was practically completed, the roof having been finished this week. It was the center of a mass of one and two-story frame buildings occupied by poor people. Immediately in the rear of the building was a two-story brick. The home of Thomas Hulett, who lived there with his wife and nine children. They were at supper entertaining as guests Miss Emma Hope, a relative and her friend, Mrs. Ada Keown. When the building fell the force of the terrible mass of brick, iron, wood and plaster seemed directed rearward, completely burying the structure. All of the inmates were killed or injured.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The following is a complete list of the dead: Mrs. Eliza Allen; Mrs. J. L. Gowan; William Gowan; Mary Gowan; David Gowan; Edward Mott; Horace Mott; Mary Walsh had not been found at 2 a. m. The injured are: James Gowan, Alice Hulett, Mrs. Ada Keown, James Mott, mortally injured; Mrs. Jas. Mott, s-o fatally hurt; Jane Mott, may die; Mamie Mott, probably live; Horace Wigan, will die; Mary Wigan, will die; Horace Wigan, will die; Mrs. Eliza Keown, slightly injured; Mrs. Kate O'Donnell, slightly; Mark Seavy, cut about head; several of Seavy's family slightly injured; Mrs. Frank Gillette, slightly; Harry Wabcoe, arm cut; Jacob Jacques, cut about head and arms; Henry Johnson, seriously hurt.

TORNADO SWEEP KANSAS.

Much Property and Many Lives Lost in the Awful Wind Storm.

KANSAS CITY, April 1.—Reports are just arriving of a terrible loss of life and destruction of property by a tornado which swept over Kansas last night. Towanda, Kas., was completely wiped out. Thirty persons are said to have met death. Augusta, Kas., is partly wrecked, and five persons are reported killed. Wellington and Kiowa are much damaged. No loss of life is reported at the former place. In addition to loss of life a great number of persons were injured. Every effort is being made to obtain the particulars, but wires are down in all directions.

KANSAS CITY, April 1.—Butler county is greatly damaged and five people are reported killed and fifteen wounded. The wires are all down west of Topeka and it is impossible to get a verification of the reports, but no doubt the storm is very severe. Ottawa, Olathe and Salina, report severe winds which blew down many houses, destroyed much property, injuring several people, but causing no deaths. At St. Joseph, Mo., several large houses were unroofed and three people were injured. At Leavenworth, Kan., the opera house and two large manufacturing establishments were unroofed and many plate glass windows were destroyed. Reports from western Kansas are very meagre on account of the lack of wire facilities, but it is evident that much damage has been done with a great loss of life.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 1.—A terrific south wind prevailed all over Iowa this afternoon, which was especially destructive to property in the west half of the state. The loss is so badly scattered that the aggregate is difficult to estimate, but will not be less than $150,000 in Des Moines alone. A falling chimney broke through the roof of the State Register building, severely injuring a printer working at the case.

Blew Hard in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—A heavy wind storm which passed over the city shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon caused considerable damage to property in the southern portion of the city. While the workmen were at work on a building on South Broadway, the west wall was blown down by the gale and one of the laborers was seriously and four others slightly hurt. The wind blew fifty miles an hour, and was followed by a heavy rain storm.

Nebaska Lost Enormously.

OMAHA, April 1.—Meagre reports show that the damage all over the state caused by the storm is enormous. Many fatalities and narrow escapes are reported. Owing to wires being down it is almost impossible to obtain accurate estimates of damage or number of lives lost.

NICARAGUA CANAL SOLD.

Flagler, Austin, Mackay, Corbin and Andrew Carnegie Buy Stock.

NEW YORK, April 1.—H. M. Flagler, John W. Mackay, Austin Corbin and Andrew Carnegie have gone into the Nicaragua Canal Construction company, and it is understood they are to be represented on the board of directors, an early change in which is expected. Mr. Carnegie bought a large block of the company's stock before going on his trip to the Pacific slope. Mr. Mackay followed suit shortly afterward. Warner Miller, the president of the company, speaking on the subject, said the fact that the gentlemen mentioned had entered the company would increase the confidence of the people in the undertaking. Mr. Miller said his position was changed with regard to government control of the canal. He is not soliciting the government to guarantee the bonds and assume direction of the enterprise. His purpose is to go ahead and build the great canal by private capital.

EXPLOSION ON A TRAIN.

Erie Passengers Have a Narrow Escape—Two Cars Burned Up.

LIMA, O., April 1.—An unusual accident occurred on the west-bound Erie train last evening. Just after leaving New Portage the conductor began collecting tickets. When he reached the closet at the end of the car he opened it to see if anyone was inside. He thrust his lantern in, and instantly there was a terrific explosion. The conductor was hurled against the opposite side of the car and badly burned and injured. The car immediately caught fire and before the train could be stopped the coach and one sleeper were in flames. The passengers had barely time to escape and lost all of their effects in the burning cars. The sleeper and coach were detached and were entirely consumed. The explosion was probably caused by a leak in one of the gas reservoirs in the closet.

TRAINING THE CHAMPION.

An Offer Made to Install Him at Massena, Near Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 1.—Yank Sullivan is trying to induce Charley Johnston to bring John L. Sullivan to Syracuse to train for the fight with Corbett. It is said that Johnston has been made a very tempting proposition. The training quarters would be at Massena Springs, four miles outside of Syracuse. There is a country club house, adjacent to which is a mile course. Massena Springs is on the freight line of the New York Central railroad and would therefore be inaccessible to a crowd. It is a delightful spot in a hillside of its own, where a fighter would get lots of fresh air and plenty of room to run and roam. He could be nicely cared for at the club house, which is well kept. Charley Johnston is to stand in Syracuse to look over the ground.

Fatal Duel in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—Two bank operators, James Ketchum and Monroe Guion, fought a duel at Creve Coeur Lake yesterday. Ketchum was armed with a shotgun and Guion with a revolver. The fight was at thirty paces and all the regulations of a first-class duel were strictly observed. Both men fired two shots and Guion fell mortally wounded, the shot taking effect in his abdomen. The men fought because of a quarrel over some trivial affair.

Tim Hopkins Resigns.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Timothy Hopkins has resigned his position as treasurer of the Southern and Central Pacific railroads. The two boards met to receive the resignation. There are rumors that he would have been displaced if he had not resigned. Captain N. T. Smith, assistant treasurer of the two companies, and H. E. Huntington, nephew of C. P. Huntington, are mentioned as possible successors.

Has Sold to New York Parties.

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—The report that A. J. Cassatt has disposed of his interest in the Monmouth Park association to New York parties is confirmed by an official of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, who said that Mr. Cassatt some time ago contemplated withdrawing from the association, and that the interests of the estate of William L. Scott will probably be closed out at the same time.

Victory for Escherites.

CLEVELAND, April 1.—The circuit court this morning decided the Evangelical church case brought by the Dubs faction to test the right of the officers of the book concern of the church, elected by the Indianapolis general conference, to hold office. The court, all three judges concurring, holds that the general conference was the lawful body, and decided in every respect against the plaintiffs.

Death From Heart Failure.

DEADWOOD, S. D., April 1.—Colonel Frederick Thompson died suddenly yesterday of heart failure, aged 63 years. Mr. Thompson was born in Pennsylvania in 1828. He went to Broadhead, Wis., in 1830, where he lived until 1876, when he came to the Black Hills. He was a member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1858 and 1860.

Charged With Matricide.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, April 1.—Sheriff Ellis arrived here on the 7:30 train last night, and carried back with him to Houston Walter E. Shaw, son of Mrs. Shaw, who, with her sister, Mrs. Johnson, were found dead in their residence in the latter city, yesterday, with their throats cut from ear to ear.

Struck by Lightning.

MERRILL, Wis., April 1.—During a thunderstorm this morning the German Lutheran church was struck by lightning. There were fifteen children in the church at the time and two of them were quite badly burned. The bolt stunned four of the children. A horse hitched near the church was killed.

Dead New Stepchild to Death.

ROCKY TERR, Mo., April 1.—Mrs. William Byington is in jail, charged with the murder of her stepdaughter. Saturday William Byington, on returning home from work, found the body of his 9-year-old daughter lying on the hearth, her body horribly burned. Mrs. Byington explained that the little girl had fallen into the old-fashioned fireplace. But a post mortem examination showed that the child had been beaten to death.

Death of a Father.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Charles D. Drake, ex-chief justice of the court of claims, was found dead in his bed at his residence in this city. His death was entirely unexpected, as Thursday night he attended prayer meeting at the Western Presbyterian church and took part as usual. Returning home he spent an hour or two with his family and retired in apparently good health. Judge Drake was 84 years old.

NOT A DOLLAR LOST

The Herald Shows the Falsity of the Statement

THE HERALD'S WORK REVIEWED

It Has Persisted in Probing the Corruptions and Its Reward Has Been a Complete Victory on Every Time.

Without weighing the probable consequences of telling the unvarnished truth, THE HERALD, at the beginning of the city campaign boldly declared itself, announcing the policy it would pursue. That policy has been adhered to with fidelity to the truth and without malice toward any man. It has insisted that the wrongs and corruption abounding in the city hall were not the creatures of imaginative partisanship, but cold, immovable facts. In doing this it has been necessary to wound the sensitive feelings of some of its warmest friends. The questions asked have been construed into personal attacks, but the truth of the conclusions, in every instance, has not been assailed.

THE HERALD was the first and only paper to bring home to the people with startling distinctness the indisputable fact that George R. Perry embezzled over $20,000, and was permitted to go scot free. The first and only paper to prove that the investigation of his accounts was limited to two years of his four years of service.

THE HERALD was the first and only paper to demand in behalf of the people to know why the investigation was thus confined.

THE HERALD was the first and only paper to publish all the information concerning the matter obtainable from authentic sources.

THE HERALD is the first and only paper to charge that if Perry stole $20,000 in his last two years, it is reasonable to suppose that he stole something in his first two years.

THE HERALD is the first and only paper courageous enough to ask that another investigation be made.

For all of these public services THE HERALD has met with the silence of the press in position to answer and the abuse of its contemporaries.

Other Wrongs Uncovered.

THE HERALD was the first and only paper to probe the acts of City Physician Wright and to demand his removal for misfeasance. A democratic administration removed him from office in disgrace.

THE HERALD was the first and only paper to call attention to crookedness in the office of Director of the Poor Kruse.

THE HERALD was the first and only paper to force an investigation. That investigation resulted in the discovery that Kruse was short in his accounts with the city. He was publicly censured and disgraced.

THE HERALD was the first and only paper to publish the fact that John Rozema, a democratic officeholder and one of the most conspicuous figures in the democratic convention, who in a ringing speech nominated the democratic candidate for mayor, is short in his accounts and is a fugitive from justice.

THE HERALD has done all of these things and in return has been charged with waging a war against somebody or somebodies from malignant motives.

A Falsehood Refuted.

In closing the work of the city campaign THE HERALD has another duty to perform. That duty is to prove by the figures that the statement, "The city has lost not a dollar by the democratic candidate officials," is false and untrue. That statement was made in a public meeting of democrats by the chief executive of the city, and was reiterated in the columns of the organ of the party.

It is false and untrue in the first place because nobody knows the exact amount of George R. Perry's embezzlements.

It is false in the second place because the experts who examined the books for two years only of his term filed a claim against the city for such incomplete services amounting to $507.50. That bill was reduced to $500, and it was paid out of the public funds of the city, paid into the treasury by the taxpayers. It is false in the third place, because inside of five months from that time a stenographer was paid, upon the order of the council, $38 for taking stenographic notes in the Wright investigation.

Here are $538 actually taken out of monies raised by taxing the home owners of this city for other purposes, to pay for investigating and fixing the amount of shortages in the offices of dishonest democratic officials.

Can any truthful man rise and say that the "city has lost not a dollar by the dishonesty of democratic officials?" If he can and does, he deliberately lies.

Here THE HERALD rests for the time being from its efforts to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth of and concerning the democratic record in municipal affairs for the years 1891-2.

YESTERDAY'S HORSE SALE.

TALK OF THE LOBBY

An Englishman Gives His Off-Hand Opinion

SEVERAL INTERESTING THEMES

Comparisons Made Between Our Ways and the Ways of the Lordly Briton. Other Hotel Notes.

Wilfred Buckley of the great English firm of Saml. Buckley & Co., commission merchants, Birmingham, England, is a decidedly well-bred and intelligent young Englishman, who is a guest in Sweet's hotel. In conversation with a reporter for THE HERALD, Mr. Buckley said: "My visit to Grand Rapids is on business connected with our firm and is one of the semi-annual trips which I make yearly through the states."

"You like America?"

"Yes, decidedly. In fact I am partly American myself, my grandfather being the Hon. M. R. Keenard, head of the United States treasury in Boston."

"How do American and English business methods compare?"

"Well, on the other side we don't make our money so quickly, neither do we lose it so fast as do Americans. The English are slow to accept a new thing. It is shown them, its merits demonstrated, they look and say 'Yes' and go away to think about it. In a year, perhaps, they come back and adopt the idea. There are fewer failures in England, too, and less of the 'boom' element in business."

Gun Factories Crippled.

"What branches of trade has the McKinley tariff affected?"

"The pearl button and gun industries have suffered seriously. I know, and the Belgium gun factories have been badly crippled."

Speaking of the English mode of street transportation, Mr. Buckley said: "The street car is very little used in England, and in London they do not exist. A London business man depends entirely upon cabs. You rent them by the hour at two and six pence, about sixty-two cents in American money. A merchant will keep the same cab for hours at a time, and this system is the cause of the crowded and animated appearance of London streets. The omnibus is another popular vehicle and is much used by American tourists, who say that London can best be seen from the top of one. We walk much more than Americans, and you will see the wealthy merchants on foot quite as frequently as any other class."

In Birmingham, Manchester and Liverpool there are a few short lines of street cars, but no English city would tolerate the system of overhead wires as in Grand Rapids. Some of the cars are run by cable, some by storage battery and a few by horses. Such an institution as an elevated railroad could not exist in London, as the streets are so crowded, but Londoners are very proud of their underground railway.

Birmingham, you know, is called the workshop of the world. It is a city of 450,000 people. Hardware is the principal product and contains hundreds of wealthy firms. Our own has done business in America for nearly 100 years. It belonged to my great grandfather once, and some day I suppose I'll get in."

One novel thing that strikes me, especially in this state, is the distance between the large towns. Here they are seventy-five to one hundred miles apart, but in England you cannot ride a score of miles without reaching a town as large as Grand Rapids."

Notes from the Corridors.

Col. R. P. Pepper of Frankfort, Ky., who has been a guest at the Morton during the Warner horse sale, left yesterday afternoon for the south. To a reporter for THE HERALD, the colonel said: "I am well satisfied, in fact delighted with the success of the sale. I have disposed of my own string at good prices and I will say that I believe that Grand Rapids will shortly become one of the important horse centers of this country. It has the money, the enthusiasm and men to bring about that result. I have told Mr. Warner that when he has another sale here I will be with him again."

Judge P. P. Hoyt of Muskegon, is at the Morton.

G. E. Dowling of Montague, one of Michigan's prominent and solid bankers, is at the Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Montgomery of Muskegon, dined at the Morton yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Canfield and Mrs. F. Canfield of Manistee, are at the Morton.

JOHN H. MCGILL DEAD.

Kent County Bar Adopts Appropriate Resolutions.

About two weeks ago THE HERALD contained an item stating that John H. McGill, of the law firm of McGill & McGill, had gone to his father's home in White Pigeon and was prostrated with typhoid fever. He continued to grow worse and yesterday morning he died.

The deceased was a promising attorney and had been a resident of this city for the last five years. He was a graduate of Hillsdale college and studied law for two years with H. B. Fallase. He was 28 years old, a single man, and by his straight forward dealing had made a large circle of friends.

In response to a call a large number of lawyers, members of the Kent county bar, met in the circuit court room for the purpose of adopting resolutions of condolence on the death of Mr. McGill. Judge Grove was chosen chairman and Henry C. Chase secretary. Judge M. C. Borch presented the following resolutions, which were adopted:

"The sad news reached this city this morning of the death of John H. McGill, one of the younger members of the bar of Kent county. Mr. McGill was a young man whose activity, apparent physical strength, high character and stirring worth gave promise of a long and useful life which would enable him in his professional capacity to be a benefit to the world, and to achieve socially and as a citizen a position of great credit among his fellow-men."

"He was the son of aged parents, who had high hopes for his future prosperity and who largely depended and leaned upon him for comfort in their advancing years. He was the center of a large circle of friends and acquaintances who were accustomed to appeal to him for assistance and advice, and he had already obtained a considerable clientage in his professional labors who believed in him as an attorney of culture, ability, integrity and good promise. His sudden death is generally regretted by the bar of this county, as he had well won the good opinion of every member of it with whom he had business or other relations."

"Therefore, by the members of the Kent county bar, called together for the purpose of giving some slight expression of our respect, esteem and affection for him, and our deep sense of loss by reason of his early and untimely death, it is hereby Resolved, That we tender to his sorrowing parents, relatives and friends our heartfelt sympathy in their affliction, adopting it in a large measure as our own; that we request that a copy of these resolutions be presented to and spread upon the records of the state and federal courts in this city, and that another copy be engrossed and transmitted to the parents of the deceased as some slight token of the regard in which he was held by us, and as an evidence of our sympathy for them in their grievous loss."

H. B. Fallase, William Alden Smith and Myron H. Walker made eulogistic remarks supporting the resolution. The following committees were appointed to present the resolutions to the different courts in the city. United States court, Judge Birch, Messrs. Swarlow and Kenney; superior court, William Alden Smith, Charles Wilson and Judge Haggerty; Kent circuit, Myron Walker, Fred C. Temple and Henry E. Chase.

BOARD OF HEALTH MEETING.

Dr. Bradford Recommends an Amendment to an Ordinance.

The board of health
